200 YEARS OF TRADITION

Since 1815 the soul of our fabrics has told stories of excellence, territory and quality, the historical values of our brand. Beauty, knowledge, tradition and innovation that move in unison, this is our historical heritage, this is the institutional heritage that we reinvent, collection after collection, with creativity, research and innovation.

The journey of our fabrics starts from afar and from selected farms, such as the wool coming from Australia and New Zealand. A value guaranteed by animal welfare and know-how handed down generation after generation, with an entirely traceable production.

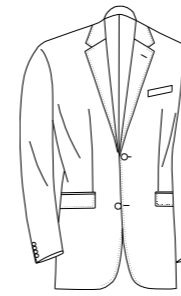

The reduced and conscious use of water resources, combined with the use of renewable energy, represents the constant attention we devote to the environment and people.

Marzotto

It was the year 1836 when Luigi Marzotto, moved by his passion for excellence and his sensitivity for noble fibers, created a small textile lab which over the decades has grown to become synonymous with elegance, finest quality and secular tradition.

Our values based on great knowledge and constant research of innovative products are the roadmap of our devoted craft: in order to reach excellent standards of sustainability, at Marzotto, from our ancient heritage, we strive constantly to improve our production processes by choosing virtuous and conscientious partners such as the Schneider Group (a reliable and certified firms that produce ethical organic wool), by monitoring our production chain from the supplier of raw materials to the finished fabric, and by carrying out strict quality controls in compliance with the most stringent international standards.

The elegance of ancient roots, with an ethical soul.

From noble making to noble wearing.

Besides being a natural fibre with green DNA, our Organic wool is 100% traceable, sustainable and GOTS-certified, which means coming from 100% Woolmark Pure New Wool, rigorously eco-sustainable and socially responsible towards the biodiversity and the physical and psychological wellbeing of animals. Our aim is to control and safeguard every phase of the production journey.

From the selection of the finest raw material to fabric, a new idea of a conscious elegance offers a timeless and precious experience of noble wearing.
